Quiz #3

406.306 Management Information Systems
Spring, 2007
Date: May 3, 2007

YOUR NAME:

(True / False: 5 points each)

1. XSLT uses XPATH for locating nodes in XML documents. T

2. Any URI referred to by a namespace definition must contain an appropriate XML document. F

3. Any XSDL document is an XML document. T

4. Any XML document is tree-structured. T

5. It is not possible to have naming collisions if the namespace is defined for every XML document. F

6. A blank is a whitespace character. T

7. DTD is an XML document. F

8. Utility market is an example of MRO hub type e-Market. F

9. Elements that do not belong to any namespace are called unqualified elements in XML. T

10. Production workflow refers to the processes that are found in manufacturing industry. F

11. In the 3 tier architecture, enterprise information systems are contained in the data tier. T

12. Virtual hierarchy is a governance structure that results from the competition between supply chains. T

13. Aggregation market making mechanism is widely used in spot sourcing. F

14. Market created for group purchasing is an example of forward aggregator. F

15. Web browser belongs to the presentation tier in 3-tier client/server architecture. F

16. Some activities of a workflow in modern WfMS can be carried out by software applications instead of human. T

17. The coordination cost is high in market based governance structure. T

18. When the product complexity is high, market based coordination is preferred to the hierarchical coordination. T

(ABEEK question: 10 points)

19. Discuss why code of ethics is necessary for industrial engineers.