

Lecture 10:

Microfluidic Devices: Concept and Applications

- p1

Students need to notice about this chapter because it includes lots of basic theoretical backgrounds of microfluidics which is one of the most important research area of MEMS technology.